

Sample Rinri Meditation

Resonant Moon day 28.
Red Resonant Moon day, kin 189.
White Resonant Wizard Year (2000).

So we are gathered here today as the 28th day of the resonant moon. 7-28 on the 13 moon calendar and we are going to go through the entire meditation that involves the Rinri Project Meditation and the meditation of the 20 tablets and also of the 7777 meditation that is always completed on the 28th day of every moon and that is perfect because this is the seventh moon and the 28th day so it is very appropriate that we make this recording at this time. If we are doing this meditation it is also recommended... you can do it alone but if you do it with others it is good to think of everyone being within the UR dome. That we are all gathered together in a circle of unity which is the same for all the groups gathered together. That we are all within the protective cover of the great UR dome. So we have completed the four weeks meditation for this moon and so we are on this final one and on the 28th day of the resonant moon of the seventh year of prophecy the destiny kin is Red Resonant Moon. So we know that the Red Resonant moon is a gateway kin so we are focusing the attention at this point on the root center of our five main chakras and we are emphasizing that there is a red of the four color petals, the red moon is a red petal, it is facing outward. We also know that this root center also corresponds to the Antarctic region, the south pole extending up into the area of Tierra del Fuego of Chile and Argentina in the Southern Hemisphere.

So that is the area that we are pulsing on the planet holon and that we are coordinating the pulsing of the area of Antarctica and Tierra del Fuego that is also coordinated with the pulsing of our own root center of our chakra system. So when we are focusing on this and visualize the red petal of our root center then because we are in the Northern hemisphere we will be receiving a yellow magnet that is being sent to us from the different groups and people doing this meditation in the southern hemisphere.

All the yellow magnets that the southern hemisphere groups are transmitting go to the center of the earth where they reach the great invisible magnet of be-ness that is in the center of the Earth and they are gathered by that magnet in the center of the earth and then sent to all of us in the Northern hemisphere. So we can see that large yellow magnet turning and sending from its two ends smaller yellow magnets to everybody in the Northern hemisphere so we can receive those yellow magnets coming from the center of the Earth and each one of us receives a yellow magnet that enters and melts and dissolves into the red petal of the root center of our chakra system.

So we receive that yellow magnet that comes from the center of the earth and feel it melting into the red petal in our root chakra. As we are sitting there and visualizing the planet holon overhead we can visualize the psi-bank plate. The one for the northern hemisphere and then that is gathering above our heads and joining with the one from the southern hemisphere which is in reverse, or mirror symmetry. As we go down to the 9th column we can visualize the galactic activation portals, the loom of Maya. As we go down the 9th column on the Northern hemisphere one we can locate on the fifth position on the bottom the psi-chrono unit for today which is kin 176, Yellow Resonant warrior. That position there, which is the fifth one from the bottom and it is the last one when you see the little strand coming up from the corner going up the tzolkin.

We can see overhead the kin 176, the Yellow Resonant Warrior, pulsing there and we can see it at the symmetrically opposite place in the southern hemisphere psi plate as well so we have in the psi-chrono unit pulsing overhead we can visualize the two psi plates, the tzolkins and the galactic activation portals streaming up overhead.

So as we sit with our chakra system and psi bank plate overhead and we have received the yellow magnet and we have pulsed the red moon zone on the planet holon then we can go to the next phase which is placing ourself within the codon cube.

This weeks codon is number 16, which is the triumph of the people which has the sensory space triplet below and the telepathic energy triplet above so we build this codon cube. We have a yin line on the bottom of the cube, a yin line on the right side of the cube, a yin line on the left side of the cube, a yang line on the back side of the cube, a yin line on the front side of the cube and on the top another yin line. So we have the codon cube constructed with us sitting there in the center of it. Once we have constructed that we can take the UR rune which corresponds to this 13 weeks which is the UR rune which corresponds to the codon 51 which is energy arousing being and this UR Rune is a purple square inside of that with the purple T or Tv-shaped antennae form inside that square.

So you can place that UR Rune in the middle of the Codon Cube by placing it at your heart center. From there, that creates the UR Rune which is purple and with a type of TV antennae in the center there. You can hold that a few minutes there and then visualize that the purple rays of light are coming from that UR Rune and extending all directions hitting all six sides of the cube so that they have activated that particular codon and once they have activated that particular codon they are sending out streams of light and energy, violet colored healing energy with that particular codon and wherever that codon exists in whatever life forms: plants or animal, human life form, that life form is receiving healing rays wherever that may be found.

So from your heart center you just have to see countless streams of life and energy coming out from that UR Rune illuminating and making that particular codon feel vibrant wherever it exists in whatever forms of life it exists on this planet. That codon is being activated. So once we are there within the codon cube with the rune for this 13 weeks we have activated that, then holding that cube we can begin to place the radion cube around that codon cube.

Remember your codon cube has a yin on the bottom, a yin on the right, a yin on the left, a yang on back, a yin on the front and a yin on the top. And the UR rune in the center of the square with the tv antennae purple radiating out. Then around that we have the radion cube. On the top of the yellow dali seal, on the bottom is the red seli seal, on the front is the white gamma seal, on the back is the blue kali seal, on the right is the yellow alpha seal and on the left is the red limi seal and then imagine the radion cube fits perfectly around the codon cube and then in the very center is the UR Rune and the white silio seal and that is also interpenetrating with the UR Rune so the light is also emanating out from the white silio seal. White healing light that also goes out with the UR Rune.

Now that we have the two cubes next we will place the time atom. This is the fourth week. We are placing a unified field time atom within this doubled cube. This is a yellow unified field time atom which has seven points. One at the top, one at the bottom and then two symmetrically arranged points on each side and you can imagine that unified field time atom extends from the top to the bottom of the cube and you can imagine that being inside as you are sitting there inside of the cube. We have inside of the cube the UR Rune and the silio superimposed over the UR Rune and you have analog top, then the white antipode and the blue occult and finally the unified field time atom. That is a yellow time atom and it is glowing, luminous yellow time atom.

So we have ourselves within the codon cube and the radion cube and the unified field time atom and also because this is the fourth week of the moon we also place around the two cubes a yellow and blue tetrahedron. A tetrahedron has two yellow triangular faces and two blue triangular faces. This is the second of the two tetrahedra that would go over the moon. So you can imagine this large tetrahedron enclosing the cube. It has two yellow faces, one yellow triangular face and another yellow triangular face and two blue triangular faces. So that is enclosing the radion cube.

Now you have to sit there and feel all that and now we are going to go to the climax we are going to take the whole visualization with yourself in it and we are going to take that and project that to the very center of the earth. From where you are sitting you are now going to the center of the Earth in your tetrahedron and your unified field time atom and your UR rune so in the center of the Earth of course there is now a large octahedron.

The tetrahedron that was enclosing your cube has now joined the with the other tetrahedron which has two white and two red faces and with the other tetrahedron that has two blue and two yellow faces to form a large octahedron that has on the top part two red faces and two white faces, two triangular white and red faces and down below it Has two blue and two yellow triangular faces to form the octahedron and within the center of that octahedron you place time atoms you have built up over this particular moon. The red time atom has its axis aligned with the polar axis that goes through the center of the octahedron to the north pole of the octahedron. That's the red time atom, it's turning a clockwise direction and below at the south pole is the blue antipode time atom. It is turning the opposite direction, counterclockwise direction, from the red time atom above. This hold the polar axis of the Earth and the octahedron in place. From the center of the octahedron you have extending to the right the white time atom which is rotating in a perpendicular to the polar time atoms. It is holding the gravitational axis. Then on the left you have the other time atom, the yellow time atom which forms the other side of the gravitational axis with the white time atom. So these are holding steady and turning in the direction that turns from the right to the left. These are rotating around holding the gravitational balance of the octahedron and of the Earth. So you have the two polar atoms, the red above and the blue below and perpendicular to that you have the two other time atoms the white time atom on the right and the yellow on the left. These stay on the same plane and they rotate around to hold the gravitational field.

So now at the very center point of that octahedron you dissolve your cube you dissolve your time atom you dissolve yourself you dissolve all of the elements of the Cube into just a point of light at the center of the octahedron. You can align yourself with the polar axis of the octahedron in the center of that octahedron can be the same as your heart center. From that there are infinite amounts of light plasmic energy that are scintillating and shooting above and below on the polar axis.

So on the polar axis of the octahedron extending upward to the north pole and downward to the south pole the streams of luminous plasmic energy which are being coordinated and emanated from the heart center going out to the north pole and the south pole and when they reach the surface of the earth they connect with the Aurora borealis in the north and the Aurora australis in the south to create the Rainbow bridge which has two parts: the day alternator side which is faces the sun and the night alternator side which faces the galaxy or the galactic center.

You can see from the streams of cosmic energy that come up from the north pole and the south pole they reach the inner magnetic field and they create the two parts of the Rainbow Bridge with the earth inside of them very much like a type of gyroscope. Then you can just feel that cosmic energy issuing continuously from the center of the octahedron going from the north pole to the south pole. You should always try to remember this octahedron wherever you are.

This is the actual final form of what you might call the engineering of the rainbow bridge. So wherever you are you can always remember this octahedron and place the octahedron around you with its two white and two red sides at the top and two blue and two yellow sides on the bottom with the red and the blue time atoms turning in opposite directions on the polar axis and the white and the yellow rotating perpendicular to the polar axis on the gravitational axis and you can always visualize that and that your heart center is at the very center of the octahedron there and that from that the streams of energy issue up from your crown and out also of your root center below to create continuous energy which forms the energy that will become the rainbow bridge.

Then visualize the octahedron from the sphere of the earth and around the sphere of the earth the two parts of the rainbow bridge the solar day alternator and the lunar night alternator. This is the visualization and you should continue to practice in preparation for the Rainbow Bridge. Once you've got that visualization absolutely complete because this is the fourth week of the 7:7:7:7 also while you are holding that visualization you also receive the two final initiations the that and the quintessential initiations so you may say to yourself, "Now I embody the power of magnetic accomplishment sealed by the power of lunar elegance."

Also I forgot to mention that when you place the silio at the center of the cube you say, "My role is to accomplish the actions of the Buddha. I discharge the mental electron neutron at the center of the Earth." These are the two affirmations the other one as I said, "Now I embody the power of magnetic accomplishment sealed by the power of lunar elegance."

So when you have completed the visualization you can take the whole visualization and form the center of the earth take that back and place it in your own heart center. Once you have it placed in your heart center there then you can see the whole visualization in your heart center as well as you saw it in the center of the Earth.

Then you can then keep that visualization there, you can dissolve it into light and you can extend the light of the entire visualization to all sentient beings, to all living forms, that they can be included in the great vision and the great plan and the great design that is unfolding through us.
